Why is it interesting/cool to work for an election?

It is fun and cool to work an election because it gives you a front seat to democracy in action! Voting empowers citizens of a democratic state to take the precise action that will decide the fate of the future for them, their family, community and country. It is fun and cool to be able to witness and help facilitate this experience.

It's also a great resume builder, interact with large numbers of students and get involved in the election in a non-partisan capacity. Having young people, particularly students, work the GOTV Tables has the potential to completely transform the experience at the voting on campus stations. Not only will voters be greeted with bright, cheerful and friendly faces (their peers), they may also feel more comfortable to ask clarification questions if the majority of people working the polls are students.
